As development professionals, we are always striving to cultivate new donors, steward existing donors and keep our donors connected to our organization and mission. This program will address some of the timeless fundraising questions such as: What kind of follow up is expected after a donor visit? What kind of on-going communication is expected between the donor and the organization? What are the beginning stages of identifying a prospect? What keeps the donor invested and engaged in an organization? What kind of appreciation is most meaningful? The panel will be moderated by Linda London, Independent Non Profit Advisor and former WID President. Our panel includes:

- Jackie Mahoney, Director of Grantmaking for The Community Foundation for the Capital Region
- Matthew Bender, President of the Bender Family Foundation and Philanthropist
- Karin Carr, Vice President for Institutional Advancement for The College of Saint Rose
- Deborah Molyneux, Community Volunteer

This program will give you some insight into what works for different organizations and help you with some tips on successfully cultivating, stewarding, and retaining your donors. Additional topics for discussion will include: How do grantmakers like to be approached? What kind of follow up is expected after you receive a grant? How does the volunteer/staff approach work when asking for a major gift? How do you keep your volunteer team motivated? How to identify top prospects? Of course, you'll have the opportunity to ask questions of your own!
